LOGIWARE

IDS Premiere Partner

Your Continued Success is Ours.

Integrated Digital Systems (IDS) has been your trusted neighbor for over a decade and will continue to be in the years to come. Through the years, we have contributed to the success of the small and medium business market through value added, client focused solutions. Like most Law Firm's and other high-volume paper producing offices, you'd rather spend more time on your day to day business, and less time on your technology. LW/IDS provides secure, scalable, web accessible, document management solutions that are tailored to your company's exacting needs and high standards. Whether you are at the office, home or at a client site, you have guaranteed access to your documents 24/7.

Collaboration and Communication Solutions

Towering mountains of seemingly endless paperwork and scarce IT resources are only two realities of obstacles facing the Legal Industry today. Together, these two factors can lead to a breakdown in communication and in the worst case - a negative client experience. To avoid this unacceptable result, LW/IDS can outfit your team with our enterprise content management technology. LW/IDS web based technology will allow your authorized employees, clients, and partners to collaborate securely; anytime, from any internet connection. Your legal support staff, consultant's and attorney's will be able to contribute to firm-wide efforts like never before.

Document Conversion, Management and Access

Your project critical documents are far too important to be misfiled, mislabeled or lost. From aged, tissue thin, blueprints and plats to your most current contracts, legal documents, or large aerial maps, LW/IDS will provide on or off-site, secure, document conversion into any format. Bar coding technology ensures that everyone of your documents is instantly and accurately filed. LW/IDS web based storage products will allow you to centralize, search, control, classify and track electronic business files, regardless of format. In a satellite office, in the field with a client or giving the most important presentation of your career; with LW/IDS solutions you are able to instantly and securely access any document; any time; from any internet connection.
